OUR NEW YORK LETTER

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT]

NEW YORK, July 20, 1867

CHEAP BREAD

The crops—the harvest—their splendid promise—the yellow swathe of the reaper widening and thickening each day—all promising so much and involving so much—the great question of the grain yield, like Moses' serpent with the Egyptian's serpents, is swallowing up all other questions

From every quarter the testimony is flattering, and the high prices for bread which have been ruling on this side of our Uncle Samuel's broad wheat field and potato patch, indicate a tendency downward

About the latter end of the rebellion, just before Grant had cracked the shell of that secession eggmeat in the Richmond markets were up to so high a figure that a bullock, in Confederate money, was worth a fortune. Citizens who continued to indulge in the luxury of fresh meat, used to take their money to the shambles in a market basket and take home their steaks or chops in their wallet or vest pocket. And so baker's loaves in this city have of late become so diminutive in size and so gigantic in price, that a man could almost obtain the more nourishment by buttering and swallowing his greenbacks.

But matters of late have taken a decided turn for the better, and we can meet of us take bread again as the staff of life

The market is still far too high, when we are so near to the time of receiving flour from the new harvest, and the speculators have hard work to hold prices up until they can get off the lots that they have now on hand, and which they had bought at high prices a few weeks ago

There has been so much rain and bad weather that the average of summer crops will fall some what short of the estimates, and short of the average of some former years, but the great increased breadth of acres will give to the country the most valuable harvest ever gathered in.

Flour, which six weeks ago had risen to $22 per barrel, is now selling at $14

Then the speculators were paying in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, $3 50 per bushel for wheat and $1 per bushel for corn, now the same men are paying $1 60 per bushel for wheat, and corn, feeling the effect of the new crop, has fallen to 65 cents.

WOOL AND HOPS.

The new clip of wool in Ohio, which is the leading State in that article, is selling from 35 to 43 cents per pound. The price is lower than last year, and the tendency is downward

Those Oregon farmers who propose to send their wool to an Eastern market rather than sell at home for 25 cents, must take great pains in tagging, assorting and baling.

The cultivation of hops is now creating considerable excitement in some of the Western States In Wisconsin the culture of hops has paid the farmers better for the past five years than any other crop known in their husbandry.

HEALTH OF NEW YORK.

While news comes to us of great sickness in other quarters of the country—of the yellow fever sweeping off its victims by thousands, in St. Thomas and other parts of the West Indies—of the cholera making its death track on its westward march across the Mississippi valley, showing its foot-prints even among the camps upon the plains beyond the borders of Kansas, the health of New York has never been better, within twenty years, at this season of the year The per cent age of deaths does not begin to approach that of last year, and summer complaints are few, and confined to particularly foul localities The number of deaths in this city for several years past, has been from 380 to 675 per week, and at this time, the most sickly of the year, the number is less by about 80 per week than the average of six years past, even making no allowance for the increase of population.

CITY VAGABONDS AND CITY DOGS.

City life, all the world over, has its queer phases, but doubtless the most incomprehensible feature of New York life, is the existence here of hundreds of human beings, who seem to have solved the problem of having comfort and plenty and doing nothing That is, doing nothing visible This class of fellow-beings—they are doubtless our fellow beings, for although they are by many naturalists, and especially among the ladies, classed as preppers or monkeys, still they belong to the genus homo—may be seen at all hours of day and evening sauntering along Broadway and the other crowded thoroughfares, gorgeous in the newest clothes, the most glossy dyed moustaches, bedizined with gold chains, enormous diamond pins and brilliant rings They display upon the slightest provocation huge rolls of greenbacks, and evidently spend their money with a view to the most complete enjoyment of the good things of this world Many of these men are well known gamblers, and an idea may be formed as to where they procure the sums which they lavish so profusely. But a majority of this class are actually without any known or visible means of acquiring a livelihood They are the fashionable vagabonds of city society. They lounge about street corners, and occasionally imbibe a cocktail or a julep, they congregate in fine weather upon the steps of the St Nicholas, the Metropolitan, the Fifth Avenue, the Hoffman, and other Broadway hotels, whence they stare, by the hour, at the ladies who are passing As greenbacks do not grow upon trees, and are not to be constantly culled without some form of that traditional "sweat of the brow," we can but conclude that these fashionable vagabonds have some nefarious methods of obtaining their supplies, of which they make no ostentatious use.

These creatures are generally by nature coarse, repulsive, ugly looking vagrants, but by the aid of the tailor, the barber, boot black, and the washerwoman, they manage to assume a comely exterior, and to a casual observer would often pass for fine-looking fellows Doubtless many of these are pickpockets, burglars, thieves, garroters, criminals of a most dangerous character The detectives sometimes "spot" some of them, and follow them in the traces of those great and audacious bond robberies, burglaries, and counterfeitings, to say nothing of murders which so often startle the community. Ragged, tattered, poverty stricken vagabonds are arrested by the police, are not permitted to obstruct the way, and skulk into the corners, but these other vagabonds are the most conspicuous fellows of a great city

There is a metropolitan dog law which ought to be so enlarged as to embrace this class of bipeds, and be strictly enforced against them. In every country which the sun shines upon wherever man has found a domicil, the dog is always his companion From the petted poodle of the aristocratic city belle, to the cur of the grasshopper eating Digger Indians, from the faithful St Bernard of the Mountain Monks; to the sledge travelers of the Esquimaux, from the puck of hunts man's hounds to the mangy, hairless breed of Panama puppies, the dog is common in every clime, country and condition Adam had a dog in Eden before his helpmeet Eve was created, and the poets have done this animal the compliment of often coupling it with woman as man's comforter Thus Byron says

"'Tis sweet to hear the watch-dog's honest bark
Bay deep mouthed welcome as we draw near home,
'Tis sweet to know there is an eye will mark
Our coming and look brighter when we come"

But these trusty companions do sometimes dogen crate into worthless scamps and have the hydrophobia Thus Goldsmith, in his day, says

"And in that town a dog was found,
As many dogs there be,
Both mongrel puppy whelp, and hound
And cur of low degree"

To rid the city of the annual surplus of these curs of low degree, there is in New York a muzzle law for dogs, by which at any time during the three months from June 15th to September 15th, any hapless whelp that may be caught perambulating the streets without a muzzle, is liable to seizure and imprisonment, and unless redeemed by an owner within twenty four hours, to drowning in a great canine tub in the East River

It is rather a harsh law for the owners of pet dogs which the boys may chance at any time to catch at any time upon the street without a muzzle, or for that matter within muzzle, for these dog harvesters, at fifty cents per head bounty, don't stop long to strip off that safeguard.

From the report of 1866 it appears that 4,619 canines fell victims to the law in this city Only 278 captured pups were redeemed by their owners during the three months.

Up to the present time this summer, more than 3,000 hapless animals have succumbed to the law, and found a watery grave As a bounty of fifty cents each is paid for all dogs brought to the pound, some enterprising boys make handsome wages in the business These dog catchers generally hunt in couples, and at early morn may be seen hastening toward the pound before owners are up, with three or four dogs each The popular horror of the malady called hydrophobia, sustains this law, and thus the city is annually rid of one of its useless, ownerless, hounding nuisances It is claimed by many owners of dogs that the popular notion about hydrophobia is altogether an error And it is stated that medical science has never been able to comprehend anything whatever of the nature, origin or proper treatment of the malady, or to prove whether it has any connection with the bite of a rabid dog or not. That the disease in dogs has no necessary connection with hot weather, is proven by the fact that it is entirely unknown in many countries where the temperature is much warmer than here, and where dogs are far more numerous in proportion to population It is even reported that in some cases the result of a bite has been adverse to the canines

"A dog, to gain some private ends,
Went mad and bit a man;
The man recovered from the bite,
The dog, it was that died!"

THE LATE BISHOP SCOTT.

Long ere the readers of the OREGONIAN shall see this letter, the electric wires will have flashed to the shores of the Pacific the sad news of the death of the Right Rev Thomas Fielding Scott, D D, late Missionary Bishop of the Episcopal Church for Oregon and Washington Territory

The late Bishop, by years of faithful Christian labor in planting and flourishing new branches of the church, in establishing schools for both sexes, and in many other good works throughout his diocese, had greatly endeared himself to a large circle of friends and acquaintances, who will doubtless read with interest a more extended account of circumstances attending his death a burial

The trip to the Atlantic States was undertaken chiefly for the benefit of the health of his loving consort. Until within a few days of York, the journey was auspicious, and the of Mrs Scott was greatly improved steamer between Aspinwall and this city goon of the ship died of Panama fever, was buried at sea The sermon of the late upon that occasion, is reported to be thrillingly impressive and unusually eloquent true, that the souls of good men, as proach the confines of the tomb, catch some of inspiration from the harmony be that to the just where resurgention per the way, "heaven commences ere the past"

For two days before the arrival of the Bishop suffered from an attack of and on Thursday, the 11th inst, when moored at her pier, he was borne in a the Brevoort House

Only a few friends knew of his with those who called on Friday, for an hour or more On Saturday better, again conversed for an hour and bade adieu until the morrow His his final rest about 5 o'clock on Sabbath The immediate cause of his death was Bright's disease of the kidneys, aggravated attack of the Panama fever.

To most of his friends in this city the news of his late arrival came with the startling announcement in the papers of his decease.

The funeral was held on Tuesday the 16th inst, at Trinity Church a large number of mourning of the clergy It was advertised 3 o'clock, but long before that hour people gathered in the school room Chapel; where the coffin containing the late Bishop was exposed to the The face bore a calm and peaceful deceased had fallen asleep On the placed by friendly hands, a number of white wreaths of immortelles

At three o'clock the funeral procession formed and made its solemn way into the church The pall-bearers were Rt reend Bishops and Rectors of the church As soon as the corpse the portals, the organist struck up a low voluntary very appropriate to the scene of the officiating clergyman, Tyng, very impressive funeral service for the "I am the resurrection and the life," usual anthem from the 39th Psalm was by the choir, "Lord, let me know my the number of my days, that I may be how long I have to live," &c, after which appropriate lessons were read by Dr Van There was sung by the whole choir and attending clergymen, accompanied by the grand organ peals the hymn

"Rock of Ages, cleft for me
Let me hide myself in thee, &c."

The final anthem was that beautifully impressive one of Handel's, taken from the Book of Revelations,

"I heard a voice from Heaven"

At the conclusion of the service, the body was removed to Trinity Cemetery, where it is temporarily interred "He shall return no more to his house, neither shall the place know him any more," but the good which he has done shall live long after him

We trust that we are not trespassing upon the privacy of domestic matters, in adding here for the benefit of her many sympathising friends in Oregon, that the bereaved widow, after a few days' sojourn first with the estimable lady of Major Alvord, at Hastings on the Hudson, and afterward with the Hon Benjamin Stark and wife, at New London, Connecticut, will proceed to Athens, Georgia, at which place relatives, including an aged mother, are still living Casually yours,

ELEETA FLINT.

Ex Vice President Hamlin, in his late speech before the Maine Republican Convention, said the country owes a debt of gratitude to the Congress of the United States They have proved the salvation of the country, and he was one of those waiting with anxious eyes and beating heart to see what they would do He believed that treason is a crime so odious that it ought to be punished. Those who neutralize laws should answer the penalty of that crime. Persons who usurp power should be impeached and removed from office There is something in the atmosphere that makes bold men timid, and timid men no men at all He had read in no history where a republic had lost its liberty by the usurpation of the legislative power, but step by step, through the encroachments of the executive power. He would not make any specifications. They are as thick as autumnal leaves There is an obligation upon those in power to see that justice is meted out to alike to all men

A rather funny case came before a Justice at Milwaukie the other day A young woman who had accepted the attentions and civilities of a gentleman for some time at length was married to some one else, to whom she had been privately engaged at the time she accepted his services. Whereupon the deceived individual sued for a bill of $104 25, the amount he had paid in her behalf in taking her to concerts, operas, pic nics, rides and ice cream saloons As an offset he credited her with sundry kisses valued at $16 67½, several squeezes of the hand at $3 22½, an unreturned photograph and a ring, making a total of $87 75 He recovered the bill, the Judge allowing the plaintiff the kisses at his own valuation The case is to be carried up and there promises to be much conflicting testimony as to the value of the Milwaukie girl's kisses

A MESSAGE FROM THE STARS.—The San Francisco Mining and Scientific Press says "Mr. Graham, Master of the Mint in London, has deciphered a message from the stars It came to him as a piece of meteoric iron When heated and tested with Sprengel's aspirator, this iron gave off three times its volume of hydrogen And since malleable iron can be made to take up only about one half its volume of hydrogen, Mr. Graham understood the message to be that the iron had come from a very dense atmosphere of hydrogen gas, such as would not be found within the limits of the solar system Spectrum analysis has already shown that hydrogen is a prominent constituent in many of the stars, and Mr Graham's experiment shows how it can be conveyed all these countless millions of miles to this earth."

Combinations in Favor of the Northern Pacific Road.

It appears from articles published in Eastern journals that a combination of influences is at work to secure the aid wanted for the projected Pacific Railroads. There are indications that the Northern and Southern Pacific lines may unite their forces for the purpose of getting their bills through Congress. The members from New England, New York, and the Lake districts will favor the Northern Pacific; while, as it is believed, the members from Tennessee, Missouri, and the other more Southern States, as fast as the latter are admitted, will favor the Northern road for the sake of getting the help of the friends of that project for the Southern Pacific line. A combination of this kind would be very powerful, and there could hardly be a doubt of its success.

In discussing the subject of Government aid for the Northern Railroad a St. Paul (Minnesota) paper mentions a scheme which it thinks would be likely to concentrate important influences in favor of that line. This scheme is "the extention of the Sioux City branch of the Union Pacific Railroad from a point some seventy-five miles west of Omaha, northeast by way of Sioux City, Mankato, the Minnesota River Valley and St. Paul to the head of Lake Superior, and another southeastern branch diverging from the Union Pacific at the 100th degree of longitude, and running to Fort Smith, in Arkansas, and Memphis, in Tennessee, these extensions to be based on the same financial scheme as the Union Pacific. A bill for this purpose was introduced into the House by Mr. Donnelly nearly at the close of the Thirty-ninth session. The distance from the point of departure on the Union Pacific to the head of Lake Superior, is about 600 miles, and the route is almost an air line. From the same point to Chicago is about 350 miles. The southeastern branch would satisfy the Southern interest, and the great Union Pacific interest would be enlisted in the support of a scheme which would make both the Northern and Southern belts largely tributary to it, and by combining with these elements, the Northern Pacific Railroad would be tolerably certain of obtaining the Government aid which it desires."

It is admitted that the Northern Pacific Company, as at present organized, is one of the strongest, perhaps the very strongest, in the country. Ten of the principal railroads connecting with Northern cities, were represented in its organization, and it must gradually draw in other interests to its support as it proceeds with its work. The route by which it is to reach its western terminus will soon become a very interesting question for ourselves and our neighbors; but whether it is to follow the Columbia river through the Cascade mountains or cross that range some distance further north, it will hardly be disputed that the Columbia river pass forms the easiest route by which tide water can be reached by rail cars coming from beyond the mountains.

It pleases the organ of the city oligue to make the following statement, among many others equally absurd, in relation to the contest for the Marshalship of this city:

> The proposition to refer the matter to the Court is simply a case to submit the suits of the law. A decision would have to be made against Hoyt, but he would have many days to take an appeal to the Supreme Court. Although with the case over till next year—past time for which the Marshal is elected.

Several days ago Mr. Hoyt agreed to refer the case to the Court, but Mr. Rosenbaum declined. Suppose the latter had accepted, and the decision had been given in his favor,—a result which the plunderers organ asserts would have followed as a matter of course. Judgment would then have followed in favor of Rosenheim, and Hoyt would have been compelled either to deliver up the office or appeal at once. It would have been entirely out of the power of the latter to put the case off till next year unless he elected to relinquish the office. If he took the sixty days to appeal, Rosenheim could and would have stopped into the office, and Hoyt's rights would have been sent to slumber for a year. The case must therefore have gone to the Supreme Court next month. The Herald in its statements on this point is probably "dragging under the same valuable legal advice that rendered" ordinance No. 419."

The Lewiston Journal says that a trouble is likely to arise between the whites of that section and the Nez Perces Indians. Certain white men insist on upon cutting timber on Craig's mountain, near Lapwai, which the Indians complain is violative of their rights. The whites justify their act on the ground that the wood is being cut to furnish the military post, and in this view they are sustained by the officers in command. The Journal very pointedly says that "there is no question but these Indians have general cause of complaint against our people."

The county elections in Idaho show Copperhead majorities generally, as usual. The vote in Boise City aggregated 550, and the Copperhead majority averaged about 100. In Idaho City the whole vote was about 500. There was no opposition to the Democrats except for precinct offices, and on these the Democrats were badly beaten.

SPORTING EXTRAORDINARY.—A few days ago a couple of sportsmen set out from Walla Walla on a professional expedition, and in a few hours returned with 183 mountain trout and 64 prairie hens.

In mailing the Greenville (S. C.) Enterprise, recently, Confederate bonds of the denomination of $1 000 were used as wrappers.

QUARTZ IN NORTHERN IDAHO.—Mr. Leland writes as follows from Warren's Camp to the Lewiston Journal:

> The ore being taken from No. 1 West, on the Hic Jacet, seems to be proving better at every foot of descent upon the vein. The incline is now about 20 feet below the surface, and from the vein at this depth the ore is very rich in both gold and silver. One can seldom find a piece of the quartz in the lower half of the vein without seeing free gold in the rock by breaking. Several parties who have visited the Poorman vein at Owyhee, have seen this ore and pronounce it better than the average of the Poorman ore, save the thin streak of the Poorman which seems to be nearly pure metal. The Hic Jacet at the depth of 20 feet on claim No. 1 West, is about 16 inches wide and appears to gradually increase in width as descent is made. The casing walls are as good as one could desire to see enclose a vein. Water penetrates the vein at this depth, so much so as to require pumping or bailing at intervals during the day. The proprietors of this mine contemplate a tunnel from the West, running on the vein so as to drain as they progress. A tunnel from the West, ran on the vein, will drain it the depth of 200 feet.
> Three tons of the ore have already been shipped for Lewiston, and two tons more will be shipped the coming week. It is thought that this ore is such that it will pay a fair profit upon the expenses of extraction, shipment and reduction below; at any rate the above five tons will be made a test of the enterprise.

HOSTILE INDIANS.—The Walla Walla Statesman has the following:

> We learn that a large band of Indians, composed of renegades from the various tribes scattered through the country, are camped on the Umatilla, and conduct themselves in a manner offensive to the whites. They have a "dreamer" among them who tells them they are to repossess this country and drive the whites out. Several families have come in from their homes on the Walla Walla, having been frightened off by the hostile demonstrations of the Indians. It is said that a delegation of hostile Snakes is mixed up with the band, and that they are bent on mischief. They have already commenced killing cattle belonging to the settlers, and when remonstrated with are haughty and defiant. The camp should be at once broken up, and the Indians known to have been engaged in depredations severely punished.

Letter from Baker County.

AUBURN, Aug 19, 1867.

EDITOR OREGONIAN

Never having seen any communication from this place to your paper, is a reason why I presume to adress you a few lines touching the resources and status of Eastern Oregon: There is more natural wealth here than is generally supposed by persons not familiar with the 'chances,' hopes and prospects of a pioneer life. It is true, that gold is harder to extract than formerly, being hidden deeper in the recesses of the earth, the first miners having taken that which lay near the surface. But then, to counteract that, living and labor can be had at much reduced rates, which amply compensates for the extra trouble and expense incurred in the extraction of the precious metals. For many years to come new fields of placer mines will be opened up here to the venturous prospector. Immensely rich mines have been discovered within the last two months, at Pocahontas, Slinsta creek, New Diggings, Clark's creek, this place and also where throughout the county.

WILL QUARTZ BE KING?

If cotton was King in the South, or the United States rather, Quartz will be King in Eastern Oregon, if only one-tenth of the hopes it has engendered are realized. The Rockfellow lode, under the judicious supervision of Captain Coffin, is paying well. The discoveries made in Auburn District, near the western line of Baker county, are known to be very rich, but as is usual, the discoverers are poor and unable to purchase and erect suitable mills for reducing their rock, and therefore, must be content with simply working out the assessments required by law to hold them. In fact, no less than five districts in the county, quartz is known to exist in paying quantities, but will not be worked, perhaps, for years to come—until labor is cheaper and the cost of machinery is correspondingly cheaper, and the placer mines are more thoroughly worked. The fact is that wherever placer mines will daily exhibit to the laborer the fruits of his toil, at but little outlay, he is hard to be persuaded to invest time and labor and capital in the precious business of quartz crushing. Then, too, the chances are about one hundred to one that he has not the means; or that his residence here is only to "make a raise" to beautify and adorn his real earthly home in the gorgeous East of our own continent, or a loyalist home in the confines of old Europe.

Outside of our county too, there are known to be rich quartz mines occupying about the same practical position that ours do. The Quartz of Elk creek, Granite creek and Canyon City, in Grant county, together with those of Eagle creek in Union county, are bound to make a jingling noise in the financial world; equaling perhaps, what Washoe and Owyhee have already accomplished; when the furror and excitement they have created shall have subsided.

AGRICULTURE

Is by no means a small or unsubstantial contributor to the development of the mining interest. Everything actual y necessary for home consumption can be produced at the miner's cabin within twenty per cent. as cheap as at your valley and city homes in the great Willamette, excepting only your fruits. The Powder river valley of Baker county; the Grand Ronde valley of Union and the John Day's river valley of Grant, will compare favorably with any of the soil of America for producing hay, the cereals and those necessities of home life and comforts mostly required.

"LO!"

"The poor Indian," is the greatest impediment to the rapid settlement and permanent prosperity of all the country in Eastern Oregon. And this fact has been known as well as the existence of the recent rebellion to the governmental authorities on this coast, for those many years! How have they performed a sworn duty? It would not be too much to compute the aggregate loss of Eastern Oregon at over one million of dollars within the past seven years! Statistics would prove this sum. Captain Wildy, one of the veterans of the late war, has arrived here with his company, and has taken the precaution to scatter his men in squads all over the country; for one we appreciate his course, for by this means Mr. Lo is liable to be surrounded if vigorously pursued. The Captain brings with him a good reputation for fighting Rebs.; how he will succeed with the Los remains to be seen.

Tremendous Storm.

From the Boise Statesman of the 13th, we obtain the following:

> One of the most terrible storms ever witnessed in Idaho of hail, rain and wind, accompanied by thunder and lightning, passed over Boise City about three o'clock this afternoon. The day had been warm and sultry, though a little hazy and cloudy at times. There were no indications of a storm until about fifteen or twenty minutes before three, when a small black cloud appeared in the west. It soon began to increase rapidly in size, and a strong breeze sprung up from the northwest, when in ten or fifteen minutes more the storm burst with most astonishing violence. The wind blew a gale, and the water fell in almost a solid sheet. Some hail fell at the beginning of the storm. The water fell in the streets much faster than it could run away; in fact, the streets of Boise City were but one sheet of water several inches deep. Idaho street, opposite our office, ran a stream six inches deep nearly the whole width. The wind blew the sheets of water through the roofs and the sides of the building, doing considerable damage. The damage to crops must be very great, particularly if the storm extended down the valley. There is reason to fear it did, for it approached this city coming almost directly up Boise Valley. No field of grain could withstand such a storm. All that is not cut must be thrown flat upon the ground or tangled and twisted to such an extent as to make harvesting difficult and expensive, to say nothing of the loss of grain. All that is cut, whether standing in the shock or stack, must be thoroughly drenched, and will have to be sat out and dried or be spoiled. There is no estimating the damage done, but every farm and every crop that lay within the course of the storm must have suffered. As it approached the hills, it appeared to make a turn and traversed Stewart's gulch and went over the mountains in the direction of Centerville. The amount of water that fell in the foot hills must have been immense, for, as we are now writing, a torrent is coming down Stewart's gulch nearly large enough to float a steamboat. The storm lasted about thirty minutes, and ceased as suddenly as it came. Cottonwood gulch, it appears, was not touched by it, as the Idaho stage, which arrived here just as the rain ceased, did not have the dust upon it, moistened. A storm of like character swept over this valley about three years ago, the 30th of the present month. Considerable damage was done at that time. We find, on reference to a file of the Statesman, that Snake river was said to have raised one foot at the Owyhee ferry. Cottonwood gulch ran a torrent across Main street, five or six feet deep; the water was a foot deep in the street, between Sixth and Seventh. Several crops of vegetables were washed away from farms in this vicinity by that storm.

RAILROAD SCHEME AT THE EAST.—The New York correspondent of the Sacramento Union writes as follows:

> Said we not well that Vanderbilt was the Colossus of Roads? If certain oracular utterances on the part of certain daily journals, which it is observed usually accompany any movement of the great Cornelius on Wall street, are of any weight at all, the present agitation in railway stocks is due to the manipulations to which they have been subjected by Vanderbilt and his friends. He is said to be straining to effect a consolidation of seven railway lines between New York and Chicago into one huge corporation, which shall completely dwarf the Pennsylvania Central Company with its single line, and the controlling interest in which monopoly will, of course, rest in the hands of Vanderbilt and his party. The lines in question are the Hudson and Harlem roads, in which Vanderbilt already controls the stock; the Central, of which he seeks and will probably obtain control at the next election; the Erie, in which there is a large party greatly dissatisfied with its present management under Drew, the Buffalo and Erie, Cleveland and Erie, the Cleveland and Toledo, and the Michigan Southern roads. The New York Times, one of the papers in the Vanderbilt interest, comments on the fact that all the roads in which Vanderbilt and his friends are interested are foremost in the list of stocks, the advance on the Hudson River having been from 109½, last week, to 113 and 114½ to-day, with Harlem at 110 ex-July dividend. The Cleveland and Toledo Railroad shares, in which Vanderbilt is a large owner, are selling at 122. Next to Erie, Michigan Southern has been the liveliest stock on the railway list this week, and its fluctuations are said to be due to Vanderbilt's efforts to get control of it. The consolidation of these lines is part of a grand scheme which will not be complete until the modern Colossus shall astride the continent, or at least plant his interior foot west of the Mississippi. It may not be gratifying to Californians to contemplate such a prospect, but the indications are that before the approaching lines of the Western Union and Central Pacific are joined, Vanderbilt will have control of the Eastern end of the route, and California railroad passengers will again be at the mercy of the old man of the sea, as they used to be when he had control of the Eastern end of the ocean route.

GROWL FOR GROWL.—Yesterday morning we published an item stating that the Pioneer B B Club and the Occidental B B. Club would play the second game in the match between the clubs, at Vancouver, on Wednesday. The moment we got on the street we were met by a Pioneer with the information that our item was "all wrong." In the course of the day we were met by about two hundred and thirty seven Pioneers (estimated), each of whom wanted to know where we got our information, and why we couldn't get things right? We propose to answer both queries, and in doing so, to set a few things right with other people who have, from time to time, visited anathemas upon the head of ye Local. First, as to where we got our information. After returning from the Council meeting Monday evening at a late hour, we found in our drawer the following: "Challenge of Occidentals to Pioneers for Wednesday accepted." That, and nothing more. No date, no name, no place, no time of day, no mention of a meeting of the Pioneers, nothing to determine whether the information was official. After inquiring of several persons who had not gone to bed (nearly everybody had gone to bed) we happened upon a man who said the words on said above were written and left by a member of the Pioneer club. So far, so good. But where was the game to be played? Prosecuting our inquiries as nobody but a reporter ever would do, we stumbled eventually upon a man who informed us that the Pioneers did have a meeting that evening and that the game would be played at Vancouver. That's how we got our information. Getting it as we did, accounts for why we got it "all wrong." Here comes in our growl: Why didn't that member of the Pioneers state all the essential facts? Why can't other people, when they want us to go to the trouble of making an item for their benefit, put them to the trouble of giving us such information as will enable us to get it right instead of "all wrong?" Why will people persist in supposing that a local editor can know things without being told them? Or that he can go out and learn the particulars of an event after everybody connected with it, has gone to bed? There, we have had our growl; and now we feel better. The Pioneers are in no immediate personal danger. In fact, we accept their apology, and, in our present state of mind, would drink lager with any of 'em. The game aforementioned is to be played in this city, on the Pioneers' grounds, at 11 o'clock to-day.

DULL EVERYWHERE.—To speak of Portland being dull, has become a confirmed habit, and a good many people have come to think of the matter as though this were the dull place of the Northern Pacific Coast. This is a very great mistake, as all accounts from other cities and towns amply prove. Mr. L. H. Lewis of this city, who arrived home yesterday, from a tour through Idaho and the Columbia river towns, represents that a similar dullness is observable everywhere; that in fact, Portland is not near so unfortunate as many of the interior towns. In Idaho, the merchants have plenty of time to whittle up their dry goods to a veritable dispensing the question of "anything to do and how to do it." Very little mining is going on, for want of capital to prosecute it. He thinks there is a very calm chance that Idaho or the Upper Columbia country, will contribute this year much toward enlivening trade here. He says that everywhere, he heard as much complaint as in Portland; that appearances here are quite as good as any he saw during his trip. While it is no cause of rejoicing that other sections of the country are suffering as much as we, from business lassitude, it is somewhat consoling that we are not worse off than our neighbors.

THE EXPEDITION TO MT. HOOD.—Owing to incomplete arrangements, Col. Williamson and party did not get off on their trip to Mt. Hood, on Monday, as they had intended. The Annie Troup brought over, yesterday morning, the outfit, animals and escort, and the party crossed the river early in the afternoon and took up the line of march to the "summit." The party consists of Col. R. S. Williamson, Col. Smith, Lt. W. H. Heuer, Dr. Chubb, J. C. Bent, Geo. Hodges, — Dickinson, Capt. Wm Turnbull, and an escort of soldiers from the post of Fort Vancouver. Col. Williamson and several others of the expedition belong to the corps of Topographical Engineers. The outfit and equipments were most complete, everything which could possibly be wanted either for comfort or for scientific observations, being supplied. It is expected that with the instruments taken along, the height of the mountain will be ascertained, accurately. We are promised an account of the trip upon the return of the party.

THE PIONEER WASHER.—Among the various washing machines of late years offered to the public, the "Pioneer Washer" is perhaps the cheapest, and the simplest in construction. Of one of the principal evils which most machines have—that of wearing out the clothes, breaking buttons, etc—the Pioneer is entirely free. The action of the washer is totally unlike any of those which rub and press the clothes. It simply revolves them through the water with great velocity, reversing the direction of motion at each oscillation of the lever. This process, simple as it is, frees the clothes from dirt in a very brief time. The force required to move the levers, is slight. A woman of ordinary strength can work the machine long enough to do out an average washing for a family, without experiencing any unusual fatigue. The Pioneer Washer took a special premium at the last State Fair in California. James Brusie is agent for Oregon and Washington Territory. For further information consult his advertisement in this paper.

"IT IS NOT GOOD FOR MAN TO BE ALONE."—So thought our editorial brother, Gault, of the Sentinel. Having come to that conclusion, Bro. Gault "changed his base" yesterday morning and is now one of the happiest men alive—that is to say, he is now the husband of a wife. Bro. Gault, we congratulate you; we congratulate your wife; we congratulate the Sentinel; we congratulate the Sentinel's patrons; and if you'll mention anybody else you would like to have congratulated upon this auspicious occasion, we'll just extend our congratulations ad infinitum.

SHERIFF'S SALE.—A portion of the property of the Oregon City Paper Manufacturing Company, was sold yesterday by Sheriff Burns, on an execution issued upon a judgment in favor of the Bank of British Columbia. The balance of manilla paper on hand, 823 reams, was sold for $1 50 to $2 per ream. Straw wrapping brought 62½c to 80c per ream. The rags, rope and gunnies, brought in various lots, from 1½c to 2½c per lb. A large lot of other material and furniture was sold, bringing fair prices.

A FREE FIGHT.—We are informed that at the landing of the Ranger, yesterday, some of the hotel people indulged in a sort of free fight, arising out of competition in bis. We have no account of black eyes, peeled noses or other pleasant concomitants of that sort of proceeding. Can't any who went down, or who came to time, game All we know is, there was a muss. Now, boys, why can't you be nice.

MARSHAL'S SALE.—Mr. A. B. Richardson, auctioneer, will sell to-day, for the U. S Marshal, a lot of Lyon's Ale, seized and condemned for violation of the revenue laws. At the same time and place, he will offer numerous lots of groceries, furniture, liquors and general merchandise, on account of private owners. Hour of sale, 10 o'clock A. M.

PORTLAND ACADEMY AND FEMALE SEMINARY.—This school will begin its second year, under the present management, on Monday, September 23. The past success of the school under the administration of Prof. Gatch has been beyond the most sanguine anticipations of its friends and is the best guaranty which can be asked for the future.

RECEPTION.—We learn that Brevet Col Hodges, of Ft. Vancouver, gave a grand reception party on Monday evening, to the officers and ladies of the garrison and other friends at Vancouver, on which occasion the Colonel was warmly congratulated on his late promotion. The affair is spoken of as a very happy one in every particular.

RESCUED UP.—The Cascade which missed her ways in launching, the other day, and went into the river in a capsized condition, was yesterday righted up and partly drawn up again on the ways. The company has resolved to give her some more repairs than were originally contemplated, before again putting her into the water.

CHANGED HANDS.—The "Excelsior Soda Works" yesterday changed hands, Mr. Thomas Stevens selling his interest to his partner, Mr. Daniel Bigley, by whom the business will be hereafter conducted Mr Bigley, has for a long time had the superintendence of the manufacturing department.

WILLAMETTE FREIGHTS.—Arrived per steamer Senator, Tuesday, August 20th: 242 boxes fruit, 1 box eggs, 1 bale furs, 1 box peaches, 3 bales woolen goods, 65 cks middlings, and 38 sks feed.

TREASURE RECEIPT.—Wells, Fargo & Co received by the steamer from the Cascades, yesterday, $25,000 in treasure, from Idaho and the Upper Columbia.

MINERS.—The Cascade arrived yesterday afternoon with about sixty or seventy passengers, most of whom were miners from Eastern Oregon and Idaho

DREDGING.—We learn that the dredger will be put to work on Monday, at Swan Island bar, under the direction of Capt. West.

DISSOLVED.—The Wide Awake B. P Club, at a special meeting, last evening, voted to dissolve its organization.

ARRESTS.—There were several arrests yesterday, for misdemeanors and petty violations of city ordinances.

PERFECTLY EXHAUSTING.—Such were our feelings as we stepped into the Music and Art Gallery of W T. SHANAHAN, on First street, a few days since, and listened to the delightful tones and harmony which came from one of Mason & Hamlin's Cabinet Organs. From the soft breathing flute tones to the thundering bass of the pipe organ, all was equally free and sweet And why is it other makers cannot produce instruments like these? Mason & Hamlin were the first to introduce the Cabinet Organ, and have gained such world-wide notoriety that it requires the work of two large factories to supply the demand for these valuable instruments.

At an informal meeting of the Clergy and Laity of the Diocese of Oregon and Washington Territory, held at the Vestry of Trinity Church, Portland, on Saturday, August 17, 1867, the following tribute to the memory of the late Bishop Scott was adopted

INASMUCH as it hath pleased Almighty God in His wise Providence to remove from this earthly field of labor and care, the soul of our deceased Father and Bishop, the Rt Rev. Thomas Fielding Scott, D D, the late Chief Pastor over the Missionary Jurisdiction of Oregon and Washington Territory,

Therefore, We, the Clergy and Laity of the said Jurisdiction, in solemn conference assembled, while we bow in humble submission to the will of God, desire to express our deep and unfeigned sorrow for this sad event which has deprived the Diocese of a faithful and laborious Bishop, and the Clergy and Laity of an affectionate counsellor, father and friend

Resolved, That in him we possessed one, who by his faith, his intellect and his moral and social disposition, was eminently fitted to be a leader of the Lord's Host and a father over his people His convictions of the truth of the Gospel were firm and immovable, he accepted the whole scheme of salvation through Christ as the only one for lost men, and ever preached that they should receive His truth and ordinances "in the obedience of faith."

His administration as a Bishop, was ever kindly and parental, and in all things he strove to be an example of that meekness and humility which should characterize the disciples of the Lord Jesus Christ. Prompt in all matters of duty, and uncompromising in all points which involved the honor of God and His truth; he was at the same time tolerant and just, and listened with patience and dignified respect to the humblest of men. He regarded himself simply in the light of a fellow-laborer and co-laborer with his clergy; and while he labored as "the first Missionary of his Diocese," he ever entertained the sincerest sympathy for his parochial and Missionary Clergy, and was ever the able and ready vindicator of them against all destructors.

In his private life, he exemplified in a high degree the virtues and graces of the Christian life, he walked before his family and the world as a pattern of goodliness, exhibiting always that moderation, gentleness, sobriety and delicate consideration which so highly "adorn the doctrine of Christ"

Resolved, That we do here express our thorough and deep conviction of the fitness of our late beloved Bishop for the administration of the Lord's work in this field; and of his ability to lay those foundations of the future usefulness of the Church, without which its permanent success would have been greatly retarded. We believe that he has laid those foundations and accomplished the heavy task which Divine Providence laid upon him with incalculable profit to the Church, and with eternal honor to himself.

Resolved, That we tender to the bereaved widow of our late lamented Bishop, the faithful and amiable companion of his life and labors, our sincere sympathy and condolence; praying that the great Head of the Church may comfort her heart in the midst of this severe affliction, and that he may grant to her "that peace which passeth all understanding."

Resolved, That a copy of this memorial and resolutions be forwarded to Mrs. Scott, and that they be printed in the press of this city, and the Pacific Churchman of San Francisco.

Woe and weal to-morrow!

Feathers to fall with the weight of the dew,
Fangs to awaken the long life through,
Roses and thorns on their way,
The thoughts of the years and the waifs of the day,
Hope, and love, and sorrow!

Fiends that grin with a demon joy,
Delight with humane to tamper and toy;
Every clamp on the molten bed
Is a dream, a hope, or a promise dead—
A chill to pulse forever!

The days, and months, and years go by,
Till the prophet angel leaves the sky
For the murky room with the rattling wheel,
Its click and clog, and touch of steel,
Its band, and seam, and lever.

And side by side in the rolling press,
To curse, to cheer, to crush, to bless,
The angel and demon ever wait,
Shaking the very doors of State,
And thrilling through the nation!

Hark! how the monster throbs and groans,
Creaking his iron nerves and bones!
What to him is to pain or please,
Joy from the land, or death from the seas,
High or low in station!

Out of the misty halls below,
Hither and thither the white wings go—
Tears that never and never can die,
In all Time's rolling surges!

Pressman! see that thy reins are well—
Every turn of the press shall tell—
It may be woe and it may be weal;
Who can say how for the wheel
Into the future urges!

Proceedings of the Marion County Teachers' Association.

MR. EDITOR:—The sixth session of this Association has just closed one of its most interesting and encouraging meetings. It was held at Delpasi, on the 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th of this month.

Near fifty of its members were present, and of this number thirty-five are active teachers of the county. Although in the midst of harvest, the citizens manifested great interest in the cause of popular education. Their doors were thrown wide open, and the most generous hospitality was shown to the members of the Association. It seems to work a hardship to the citizens of such localities to hold our summer sessions in the busiest season of the year; but just at this time, the farmers, especially, desire the assistance of their children, and most of the schools are adjourned, and teachers improve the time to hold their annual convocation. The winter seasons are more favorable—it being a time when little out-door work is needed or done. If our good friends at Rockbridge and Delpasi will give us time to get around, we shall expect to meet with you at those more convenient seasons.

FIRST DAY.

Association was called to order at 10½ A. M., by the President, L. J. Powell, County Superintendent. Quite a fair representation of delegates from the various school districts were present, by invitation of the County Superintendent. A committee consisting of three delegates and two teachers, was appointed to report on the subject of a uniformity of text books.

A committee was appointed to consider the expediency of establishing a teacher's library.

In the afternoon the subject of text books was taken up. But after a discussion on the merits and demerits of various authors, the following were recommended:

Wilson's Speller; Wilson's Readers; Montieth and Mc Nally's series of Geographies; Thompson' series of Arithmetics; Clark's Grammars; Kerney's Histories; Spencerian Penmanship; Davies Algebra.

This recommendation goes to the districts with the sanction of our Association, and desire—for the sake of having uniformity in our county—that when the change of any book is made it will be done in accordance with this recommendation.

Every one who has given the matter a moment's thought, approves of the movement. By reference to the annual report of our County Superintendent it will be seen that the only change recommended that will be entire, is in spelling books.

SECOND DAY.

The first business of the morning session was the election of officers for the ensuing year. The following officers were elected:

President—L. J. Powell; Vice President, Miss Mary A. Robeson; Secretary, Thos. H. Crawford; Treasurer, Miss Fannie S. Chase.

The subject of arithmetic was taken up by Mr. Brailsford. The exercises were then conducted after the manner of a class recitation. Beginning with the foundation of the subject, we aimed to get at each separate principle.

The same subject was continued in the afternoon. At proper times the discussions were varied by whatever rhetorical exercises. During the afternoon session Mrs. Dr. Shelton read an extract, and Messrs. Ragan and Mattoon gave recitations. Report of the committee on library, laid on the table.

EVENING SESSION.

A crowded house greeted our coming together. Mr. King of Butteville, read a very interesting and instructive essay on general exercises in school. Its publication, together with that of all other essays read before the Association, will be solicited at an early day.

Mr. J. K. Gill, of Salem, then addressed the audience on the very interesting topic of light gymnastics in our common schools.

He gave exhibitions of some of the exercises used and elicited their immediate introduction. A vote of thanks was tendered him, for his effort in behalf of such improvement in teaching.

THIRD DAY.

Arithmetic continued. Properties of numbers, greatest common divisor, and least common multiple being discussed.

Mr. Ragan delivered an original poem, "Civilized and Uncivilized Life." Miss H. E. Dennis read an extract. A committee was appointed to take under advisement changes in the manner of conducting the quarterly examination of teachers. Messrs. Ramsey, King and Mattoon, committee.

In the afternoon Mr. Leonard took charge of the Association, while discussing common branches. Many points of interest were discussed, which showed that our teachers are searching for truth and the best methods of imparting instruction.

Miss Nellie Taylor read an extract. Miss Fannie S. Cave read an essay on "Dream Land."

Committee on examinations reported a substitute for resolution fifth, as follows:

Resolved, That the manner of conducting examinations be left to the discretion of the board."

The board have desired to introduce some written examinations, but desired the sanction of the Association.

It being ascertained that Mr. H. B. Lane, one of the board of examiners, is about leaving the State, his place was declared vacant. Proceeded to election of an examiner to fill the vacancy, which resulted in the choice of Mrs. P. L. Price.

Professor Winton read two extracts, which were well received. By vote, all members of kindred associations were declared honorary members. Messrs. McMichael and Bond, of the Linn County Institute, were present.

Mr. Mattoon took up per centage, which was continued till the close of the afternoon session.

EVENING SESSION.

Mr. Sellwood read a well prepared essay on "Music in Schools."

The subject of general exercises was discussed during the evening. Music, light gymnastics, etc., were heartily endorsed by all.

Butteville was chosen as the place for holding the semi-annual session during Christmas holidays. Mr. McMichael, of Linn county, was introduced. He delivered a message of greeting from old Linn, and extended to us an invitation to co-operate with them. Hon. Samuel Brown, of our county, gave us his hearty endorsement of our movements, and assured us that the prejudice which had been created in some parts of the county against our Association, was fast wearing away.

During the evening, Mr. J. A. Florence delivered a declamation, and Professor Winton read "Shamus O'Brien."

FOURTH DAY.

The following resolutions were adopted;

Resolved, 1st—That we are in favor of introducing into the public schools of this county, music gymnastics and general exercise.

2d—That we tender our sincere thanks to the people of Delpasi and vicinity for the kind and liberal hospitality with which they have entertained us.

3d—That the Secretary be requested to furnish to the papers of this county, the Oregonian, Herald and Pacific Christian Advocate, copies of these resolutions and abstracts of proceedings, and request their publication.

A committee was appointed to report on "Teachers' Library" at the next session. Provision was made for sending delegates to the next session of the Linn County Association.

Miss Taylor read an essay, "The Sword, the Sceptre, and the Pen."

Professor Winton took up reading, and during the discussion gave some exhibitions of the art. Some further points in arithmetic were discussed.

During the session the roll of members was increased by the addition of thirty names, most of whom are active teachers.

We all feel that another giant stride has been taken by our county teachers' association, and that its power for good is beginning to be felt and acknowledged by all who seek to know its workings.

It has been represented as a conclave, dark and foreboding, whose only object was to raise teachers' wages and monopolize the profession. Such thoughts have never yet entered in our gatherings. While we are not disposed to spend our time and energies for naught, our aims and desires are placed upon results to be obtained, which are infinitely beyond the mere love of money. Our deliberations have been characterized by general good feeling on the part of the teachers and people.

We shall long remember our sixth session at Delpasi.

THOMAS H CRAWFORD, Sec'y.

The Great Northern Line.

A great council of Railroad men was held at Portland, Maine, on the 17th and 18th of July. Measures were discussed looking to the continuation of the great Northern line of transportation between the two oceans. From the correspondence of the New York Commercial, we extract the following paragraph:

Gen. Stuart, one of the Engineer Corps, U. S. Army, now employed on the Southern Pacific Railroad, made a solid speech, principally relative to the Niagara Ship Canal. He had surveyed four different lines, varying from eight to sixteen miles in length, at an estimate cost of $12,000,000 President Lincoln, to whom he reported his results, said that the canal could be built for one days' expenses of the war. He had carefully estimated that the transportation of grain through this canal would be eight cents cheaper per bushel than by any other route, and that a toll of only two cents a bushel would pay for the canal in five years; and that wheat could be sent by it and this route to Portland, so as to open a profitable market in France and elsewhere on the Continent At this juncture, the meeting became so decided in its demonstrations in this regard, that a resolution was introduced, and passed unanimously: "That the Niagara Ship Canal ought and must be built; and Maine will not be backward in her Congressional delegation and otherwise in aiding the good work along.

Gen. George P. Shepley made a witty and forcible speech, in which he declared that the proposed road would not only be the continuation of the Northern Pacific Railroad, but would result in a grand cordon line of iron road that should be on the same general parallel of latitude from Canton, across Asia, Europe and America, from the mundane Orient to the Occident.

The meeting on the island soon broke up, and the large party embarked again for the city, but during the passage back, a meeting was extemporized of the guests alone, about mid-ships, over which Judge James, of Ogdensburg, presided. Complimentary resolutions were adopted after remarks by several gentlemen.

Thus closed a very pleasant and satisfactory visit of active and acute railroad capitalists and officers, who have taken some observation and council relative to another grand American trunk line of railway from Portland to the Pacific, and it is believed that it will go on at once. Charters have been obtained in Vermont, New Hampshire, and Maine at their recent legislatures, and now all are ready to commence the work.

AGE OF MASONRY.—We find an item, taken from a Glasgow paper, stating that St. John's Lodge No. 3, of that city, has recently celebrated the 809th anniversary of its existence, it having been created by charter from King Malcolm in 1057. We should like to see the muster-roll of that Lodge, beginning more than eight centuries ago, and running along with the ages to the present time. What kings and kingdoms have risen and fallen since the gavel was first sounded in its East. How the world has changed, and what progress has been made in science and art. Eight hundred years in the life time of a Lodge!

THE ALPHABETIC SOUNDS.—It has been frequently remarked with what facility the German natives of Europe acquire the pronunciation of the Hawaiian language. The reason is found in the fact that the vowels in the Hawaiian (and they use but few consonants) have the same sound as those of the European or continental languages. —Honolulu Advertiser.

Tumor Removed!

PORTLAND, August 10th, 1867.

I HAVE USED RENNICK'S SITKA LINIMENT for pain and swelling of the gum and cheek. I had a large tumor forming on the gum which arose from killing the nerve in my tooth and caused me a dreadful pain which prevented me from sleep for several nights I applied the Liniment, and to my surprise, it removed the lump and eased the pain so that it is now as well as the other cheek My cheek was fearfully swollen. This was done in the presence of two witnesses.
